inity.

The teachers in the several departments in the Academy have gone away for a few days of needed rest and change.

Sunday papers were necessarily given the go-by last Sunday because of the bad travelling from Waterbury across.

Seven or eight from the local society attended the County Convention of Christian Endeavor Societies held in Wolcott last week Wednesday.

The snow has been greatly settled by the last of February thaw. The travelling on the outroads Saturday and Sunday was next to impossible.

Mrs. H. N. Cram is on the sick list.
The tannery shut down Tuesday for town meeting.

The Ladies' Aid Society, auxiliary to G. W. Doty Camp S. of V. contemplate holding a masquerade social the latter part of next week.

Miss Alice Collins returned to her home at Hillsborough Bridge, N. H., last week Friday, after a ten days visit with her sister, Mrs. Robinson.

Mr. Emerson is the new landlord at the Union House. Fred Emery has returned to Littleton, N. H., where he will continue the laundry business.

March 10, Tuesday evening of next week will see first announced, bringing the closing lecture of the regular course, by Dr. Lyman Sperry. Subject not announced.

Carrier & Co's, the old reliable headquarters for anything in the dry goods line, are up to the times with a fine lot of goods just from market.
Everybody invited to call and see them.

Andrew Smith drove the Beedle Orchestra party across to Waterbury Monday, they having a date at that place Monday evening, and unable to reach there by rail as they had expected.

The "Epworth Banner" for March, just issued from this office, is replete with news pertaining to the Methodist church and the League here, as well as numerous items from neighboring Leagues.

There was a regular meeting of Tucker Chapter, R. A. M., in Mount Vernon lodge rooms on Friday afternoon. A special meeting for work will be held at Johnson Wednesday evening, March 11.

Mrs. G. C. Lang came to town from Warren last week. Mr. and Mrs.
Lang are about to vacate the Safford house, west of High street, and it may be occupied by W. A. Butler, the architect and building contractor.

Lang & Campbell commenced taking account of stock on Monday preparatory to a contemplated change in business. Mr. Lang is expecting to leave town, with the possibility of locating in St. Johnsbury or Barre.

Walter Hill, for a long time employed by Andrew Smith, has bought A. L. Champeau's interest in the livery business conducted at the stables in the rear of the Union House. Frank Turner retains an interest in the business.

Although it is pretty shivery weather to talk about such things, still W. H. Robinson says he didn't carry over a single ladies' summer shirt waist, but has already placed an order for twenty dozen more of those popular garments.

George Town met with a slight accident while driving on Main street the other morning. A bolt holding one side of the thills gave way, his colt naturally did a little kicking, but nothing serious further than the breaking of one thill resulted.

The Methodist Ladies Aid will meet in the vestry on Wednesday afternoon, Mar. 11. There will be a business session at 4 o'clock, at which it is desired that there be a full attendance of members because of important matters to be brought up.

The most surprising thing about Tuesday's town meeting was the presence of the big number of voters, and not a man of them but what wished as he was squeezed and jostled and punched in the ribs, that Morristown had a town hall of adequate size.

The bi-weekly supper under the auspices of the United Workers, will be served entirely by the young Misses of the Cong'l society at their vestry, on Friday evening of this week. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Business meetings as usual will precede the supper which will be served at 6 p. m.

The Rockwell Company reached here in spite of bad weather and travel at about noon Monday from Barre.
They drove from Barre to Hardwick, and came down by one of the irregular trains of Monday. The company is giving very satisfactory entertainments at town hall this week.

The current number of Forbes' Vermonter, has on the cover a reproduction of Capt. Knobel's sugar house and surroundings, and the interior of the paper is graced by a correct likeness of our genial senator, sugar maker and State Association president.

Roger W. Hulburd Esq., of Hyde Park will be the next Memorial Day speaker in Morrisville. Post Commander A. A. Niles, the Post and citizens of Morrisville are to be congratulated upon the selection of one qualified to give as good as there is going.

Remember the lecture in the supplementary course for the benefit of the public library, to be given next week Friday evening, March 13, by F. G.
Fleetwood. His subject will be "You and Yours." It is hoped that the worthy speaker as a sample of home talent, will insure a full house.

By some accidental igniting from a match, a shelf lambrequin and window curtain, some shelf kick-knocks, etc., were consumed by fire in H. N.
Cram's house on Sunday. H. N. burned his hands quite severely in his lively hustling to extinguish the flames.

The February that last week, coming Friday, brought some of the warmest days since November, in fact there were but two or three days in November as warm as Friday and Saturday proved to be. It has been a very active time with cold takers and many a snow-sneeze.

Another extract from the minstrel: —Samba—Say Mr. Johnson did you ever eat down to Bone's house? No I never did. I have, had some mighty fine custard pie, best I ever saw, but say boss, do you know why that custard pie was like Morristown's new reservoir? No, why?
'Cause it was all squashed out, see?

Two staid citizens from a few miles out, came into town the other day and securely tied the old mare to a telephone pole. When they started or wanted to start back home, they were the subjects of observation of many a tittering boy in an adjoining store, as both good men scraped the snow off their feet, comfortably stowed themselves away in the enter, and the driver jerked and pushed on the reins, and chirruped: "Dolly to g'lang," but nary a go, for she was tied hard and fast to the telephone pole.

Mrs. A. R. Campbell was called to Albany Sunday because of the fact that Miss Bertha Campbell who went there to attend a musical convention was taken severely ill with pneumonia. Mr. Campbell accompanied his wife part way when a team was met from the other way, and in that manner Mrs. Campbell got through, and Miss Grace Campbell returned from there. Mr. Campbell received a dispatch Monday night, asking his presence in Albany, because of the serious condition of their daughter.

The Sons of Veterans were greeted with a very fair sized audience, all things considered, at Johnson on Saturday evening. Some of their numbers were necessarily eliminated from the program, or such as embraced song and dance business, as dancing of any sort is not allowed in Normal hall where the entertainment was held. Frank Turner took the party down in a four-horse rig but the roads were so bad the company was stranded, not returning until Sunday morning. Three of the troupe, however, who had to be at home before that time, walked in, reaching here in the "vesma" hours.

At Monday evening's meeting of the Woman's Club, Miss Edna Cutting read an interesting paper upon "Parochial Schools," and Miss Jessie Slayton treated in an instructive manner "American Authors." Reports from Congress were received and the full club entered into the discussion of the relative merits of policy and principle as influencing conduct.
Arrangements are under way for a social session of the club to be held at the home of the president, Mrs. P.
K. Gleed on Monday evening, March 23, at which time the gentlemen will be invited to participate in the social festivities.

A horse and cutter belonging to or in charge of Miss Merriam of Elmore, cut up various antics, or at least the horse did down on lower Main street one day last week. The air was so full of frisky horse, whirling sleigh, young lady, robes and would-be rescuers, that it was hard to figure out just what happened, but certain it is that Mr. Gile who was quietly sawing wood in the rear of the Champeau block, was about as surprised as they average, when that team, on the instantaneous process style, made a complete circuit of that building. Mr. Gile had just time to step to one side, but his saw buck was converted into kindling, the cutter slightly warped, etc. Loss nominal, no insurance.

Sunday saw great times along the river with its swollen stream. Moving ice, ice packs or dams, and overflowed meadows and roads were in order. From the foot of the small sharp pitch in the road this side of Joshua Merriams', to, and about his house, and all around in Egypt, there was a veritable flood, water flowing over the piles of four foot wood on the piece cleared this season, beyond Merriams. The massive cakes of ice wrought havoc with the electric-light poles near where the wires cross the river, resulting in breaking down two or three and carrying all the wires under water, in consequence the village was in darkness Sunday evening. Everything was in shape for Monday night.

Mr. Leavitt, the laundryman who bought out Paul's laundry about a year ago, is leaving town this week for Littleton, N. H., where he will be employed in a first-class steam laundry. The disadvantage of a poor location, together with a sharp competition and demand for a steam laundry work has forced Mr. Leavitt to throw up the business here. Work will be sent to the Littleton steam laundry week by E. S. Robinson.
A. W. Stone sends orders each week to Concord steam laundry and Charles Chung's agent continues to do hand work in the basement of the Woodbury block. What Morrisville and the surrounding towns might support is a full fledged steam laundry, if inaugurated by some one who has courage coupled with a knowledge of the business.

Ethan Allen, an esteemed citizen and a resident of the town for two years or more, died of pneumonia and heart trouble last Thursday night.
The case has sad features about it, in the fact that the deceased died away from home. Something like two and a half weeks since, Mr. Allen and his family went by team to Groton, Vt., to visit relatives and friends there, very soon both Mr. Allen and his son were taken ill, death resulting in Mr.
Allen's case as stated. His son's continued severe illness prevented the family returning here as they otherwise would have done the last of last week. Mr. Allen was an upright citizen, an enthusiastic member of the Grange, a good townsman and neighbor. He came to this town from Craftsbury some two years since and bought the I. N. LeBaron farm.

The Prize Speaking.

This interesting event, usually coming in mild and balmy June, came last Wednesday evening under reverse conditions of temperature in the hall as well as outside. In spite of all this, and the crowding in of many entertainments of divers sort of late, the audience every nearly filled town hall.
The program as rendered, embraced piano selections by Miss Irish, the reading of essays by five young ladies each evincing a careful study of a chosen American author. The young men, five in number, declaimed with varied chosen subjects. The young ladies read from their manuscript which had previously been in the hands of the prize-committee, without accompanying information as to the writers identity. The participants all did themselves credit; but there were prizes to be given to but four.
The first lady's prize was awarded to Miss Mae Fisk of Morrisville, whose study of the "Song of Hiawatha" was a production abounding in easy grace of language, and the weirdness and pathos of thought that the subject invites. Miss Esther Foster of Cambridge was awarded the second prize, her essay being a careful, comprehensive study of the life and work of James Russell Lowell. The first gentlemen's prize was captured by Arthur Eaton of Wolcott, whose manner was pleasing and delivery easy in the lead. Melvin Morse of East Elmore was given second, he having spoken in an impressive way "Extracts from Chittenden's Vermont." The committee was composed of Mrs. P. K. Gleed, Mrs. C. H.
Slocum and Mrs. T. P. Cheney, judges of essays, and Messrs G. M. Powers, F. G. Fleetwood and T. C. Cheney judges for the declamations. The results of their deliberations as a jury on the case, was announced by F. G. Fleetwood, the audience applauded and the annual alumni prize speaking was finished.

When the money prizes were being so handsomely distributed to the winners in the prize speaking contest, by F. G. Fleetwood, who was delegated to do that work by the committee, the funds ran short. Sure as the world, there wasn't enough to go around. F. G. was a little broken up; said he didn't understand where it was, which brought out the dark hint from somebody in the audience that it had probably been used for campaign purposes; but fortunately for the good name of the genial F. G., the funds were found lodged deeply in his ulster pocket.

HYDE PARK.

See page 4 for report of Hyde Park town meeting.

Miss Alice Eastman is visiting friends in Burlington.

Prof. Vilas is at his home in Winoski for a few days.

I. C. Vaughan and son Raymond are visiting relatives in Woodbury.

Wm. Page and wife of Hardwick looked in upon old friends in this place last week.

The Woman's Club met to-day with Mrs. Ernest Cowles, and held a very pleasant session.

Miss Mrs. Dodds spent a few days recently at her home in Burlington.

March "came in like a lamb," but is turning out a pretty black sheep.
School at the Academy closed Friday of last week. The vacation extends one week.

Fred Lilley is in Portland, Me., this week, where he is taking instructions in the art of embalming.

Kinney, the electrician, fell against a belt at the electric light plant Monday, injuring an arm quite badly.

Sociable at the vestry Friday evening. Good supper and "more fun than the Injuns." Everybody invited.

Mrs. Elmore Grimes and her two daughters leave Monday next for a few weeks' visit with friends in Bellevue, Mass.

J. S. Leach and wife were in Cambridge a few days lately, where Mr.
Leach was looking after his farm interests.

The second social "hop" for the benefit of the orchestra piano fund occurs at the Town Hall Saturday evening.

Mrs. James Buckham, who has been visiting her parents here, returned to her home in Massachusetts last Friday.

Round trip tickets from this place to Hardwick are sold during the musical convention now in session at the latter place.

The young friends of Alice Goddard gave her a pleasant surprise party last Friday evening in honor of her 17th birthday.

Keder, the hardware man, is already "scooping up" on bicycles for the coming season, and now has a fine "Evoxy," a western wheel, on exhibition.

Notwithstanding the freshets and blizzards the Centreville mail came through on time Monday and Tuesday. The northern stage was cancelled Monday.

Many in this town who knew Ethan A. Allen in former years will regret to learn of his death from pneumonia, which occurred at Groton last week, where he had gone on a visit.

A freshet, with its attendant washouts, on one day, followed by snow fall, a wind storm and blockade the next, show some of the acrobatic feats Vermont weather can perform.

About twenty of the young ladies and gentlemen of the village met with Miss Amber Whitcomb last Friday night and passed a pleasant evening, the entertainment being drive whist.

Those interested are considering the idea of leasing the corner lot belonging to the Congregational society and putting it in first-class shape for a tennis court next summer and a skating rink next winter.

The ice jams that occurred on the river at several points Sunday presented quite a picturesque spectacle and attracted various onlookers, who gazed on the scene with awed admiration from their points of "vantage."

All communication by rail with the outside world was cut off Monday, owing to washouts both up and down the line. No trains got through, except between some close local points. No Boston or New York mail here from Saturday night until Tuesday morning.

Ezra Brown, who lives with his brother-in-law, Alphonzo Boyes, on Creamery St., chopped off the end of his left forefinger last Thursday while cutting wood. Dr. Slayton was called and found it necessary to amputate the finger just above the knuckle joint.

The Boston dailies failed to make their appearance here on Sunday, owing to the impassable condition of the roads. Since the
